Learning delivery for public-sector consulting teams.

A new process. A team ready to use it.

DBX connects intake, onboarding and cohort learning for agency modernization and process change. Give participants a clear path from preparation through practice, feedback and application.

ILLUSTRATIVE COHORT / FICTIONAL SCENARIO

A case handoff a colleague can act on.

An agency is introducing a case-management process. Your team has defined the process and approved the guidance.

01	Prepare	Capture role and support needs; confirm access and a shared cohort schedule.
02	Try	Work through a fictional case and prepare a handoff for the next colleague.
03	Compare	A peer checks the owner, next step and information needed to act.
04	Improve	Your expert clarifies the standard; the participant revises the handoff.
05	Apply	Try the process at work, then return with questions and support needs.

Track participation, reviewed work and use on the job separately.

THE WORK PACKAGE

Intake + onboarding

Route participants by role and support needs. Connect intake, enrollment, access, shared schedules and reminders.

Cohort practice + feedback

Build realistic tasks, peer comparison, expert feedback and revision into the learning experience.

Launch + handover

Support the first cohort. Provide editable materials, operating guidance and an agreed reporting view.

You lead the agency relationship and subject expertise. DBX delivers learning design, configuration and connected workflows.

Optional community of practice: separately scoped with a clear purpose, accountable owner and moderation.

Start with one cohort, one role and one assessed task. Agree scope, approved tools, schedule, fee and continuing support before delivery.

Scope a learning delivery workstream. →

Share the agency program, audience and delivery challenge.

Denis Bundi denis@dbxai.com dbxai.com